

Powermonitor Accessory Kit

Catalog Number 1400-PM-ACC

About the Powermonitor Accessory Kit

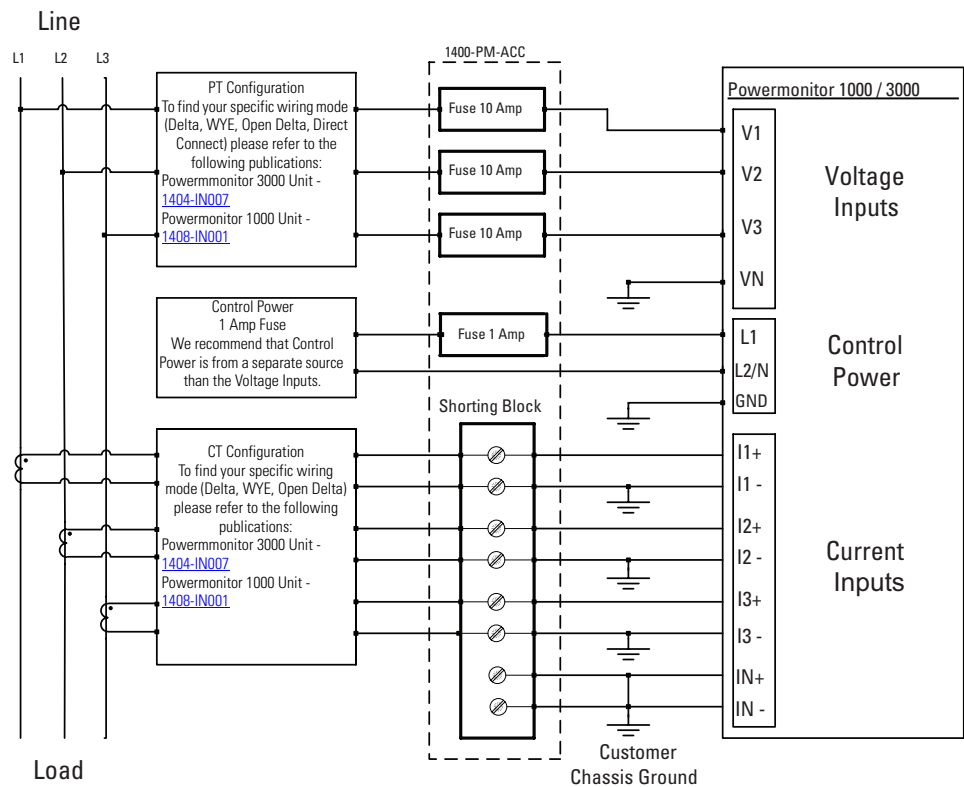

The Powermonitor accessory kit simplifies the installation of a Powermonitor unit by making all the mandatory installation accessories available in one catalog number.

All applications require the installation of current transformers for proper power and energy. Proper current transformer selection is required, based on customer application. If you have questions, please contact your local Rockwell Automation office or technical support at <http://www.rockwellautomation.com/support>.

Based on specific customer application, additional potential transformers may be required. Refer to these publications:

- For the Powermonitor 3000 unit, see the installation instructions, publication 1404-IN007, or the user manual, publication 1404-UM001.
- For the Powermonitor 1000 unit, see the installation instructions, publication 1408-IN001, or the user manual, publication 1408-UM001.
